LIQUOR MARKED AS TAR

Federal Agents Say They Have Clew to Disappearance of Warehouse Goods.

Activities of the prohibition navy and the local dry agents along the water front led yesterday to the capture of a liquor laden British schooner off Montauk Point carrying a cargo of 2,000 cases of Scotch whisky and the discovery of various quantities of alcoholic beverages on passenger steamers plying in and around New York Harbor.

Two arrests in the city were regarded by prohibition officials as of utmost importance. Director John S. Appleby said they marked the breaking up of a group of operators responsible for the withdrawal and distribution of 5,000 cases of whisky from the Republic Storage Warehouse Company.

The prisoners are Mammie Kessler, a real estate broker, and Maurice Sweetwood, also a broker, of 342 Madison avenue. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock, charged with having fraudulently withdrawn liquor. Kessler was held in $1,000 bail and Sweetwood in $2,000.

Much of Cargo Already Off.

The principal capture of the prohibition fleet was that of the three masted schooner Gamma, sighted within the three mile limit and apparently acting as mother ship to smaller craft operating along the Long Island coast. Papers on board showed that she had shipped out from Halifax bound for Havana.

Her original cargo of whisky had considerably diminished during the voyage, according to information sent to the Custom House by Inspector J. J. Sullivan, who directed the seizure. The 2,000 cases at present bootleg quotations would have a value of about $200,000. She is being towed to port by the sub-chaser Newberry.

While anchored off Sandy Hook earlier in the day the Newberry picked up a seagoing launch running up the Narrows with lights out and her engines muffled. When a searchlight was turned on the launch the men set fire to it and jumped overboard. Capt. Thomas Evans ordered a small boat launched and the two men, one of whom could not swim, were rescued just before the rope to which they had been clinging was severed by the flames. Capt. William White of South River, N. J., was running the launch and Steve Gladys was assisting. Forty-five cases of whisky were found covered with burlap bags in the prow.

$145,000 Tax Evaded.

The liquor taken from the Republic Storage Warehouse Company belonged to Hartman & Goldsmith, importers, and was purchased through the sale of legitimate warehouse receipts to a "Frank Sullivan." The tax on the liquor alone amounted to $115,000, and the payment of this, it is alleged, was evaded by the presentation of forged withdrawal permits which were accepted by the custom authorities.

A search of the Savannah liner Atlantic revealed twenty-five barrels of whisky marked "pine tar" being shipped here from Savannah. Other boats boarded by agents were the freighter Phoenix in Erie Basin, Brooklyn, from which ten cases were taken, and the excursion steamer Smithfield, belonging to Keansburg, N. J., on which were found whisky, gin and eight cases of beer.

Agents who have been watching the night line steamers to Albany reported that they had caught several boats on board the Trojan and had arrested the barkeeper and steward, who were arraigned in Albany.

Complain Against Troopers.

Guests of Lake Hopatcong hotels raided several days ago held an informal indignation meeting and threatened to complain to Gov. Edwards about the conduct of the Jersey State troopers who accompanied the prohibition agents on their visits. The members of the constabulary, it is charged, forced their way into private rooms, searched baggage, roused people from their sleep and threatened to break open doors unless they were admitted.

Murray Hulbert, acting Mayor, appeared before Judge Holmes in Federal court on behalf of Young King, Chinese merchant of 24 Mont street, whose stock of Chinese medicinal wine had been seized by the Government. The acting Mayor told the court that no white man could possibly drink the wine owing to its peculiar flavor and strength and that its arrival here had been sanctioned by the Chinese authorities and a tax had been collected. Judge Holmes released the wine and said if he had been aware of the facts he would never have issued the search warrant.

The controversy between the United States and Federal authorities over the seizure of a truckload of wine at the warehouse in East Seventy-fifth street just into Federal Court, where Patrolman John Sank was charged with assaulting John Kerrian, prohibition agent, and interfering with an arrest. Sank pleaded not guilty and was released on $2,500 bail each. They are Albert Behrend and his wife, Carrie, of East Stroudsburg, Pa., and Robert Marasca and his wife, Marie, of 121 Post avenue, Lindhurst.

Josephine said that last December she met Mrs. Behrend, who invited her to take a ride. They boarded a train together for Stroudsburg, where Behrend took them to a farm to work long hours. She secretly got in touch with relatives and they rescued her.

FLYNN'S SON, 13, GETS MEDAL FOR SAVING LIFE OF MATE

Murray Hulbert, Acting Mayor, Awards Decorations to Many Others Who Distinguished Themselves
by Bravery at Critical Times.

John F. Flynn, Jr., aged 13, son of the Commissioner of Public Works of the Bronx, twirled his cap nervously as he stood yesterday before Murray Hulbert, acting Mayor, in the Mayor's reception room in the City Hall. The room was filled and the eyes of all were focused on the lad.

The acting Mayor stepped forward and pinned on the boy's coat the silver medal of the Life Savers Association. "It is great to live your own life," said the acting Mayor, "but it is far greater to have lived for a fellow being to have lived his or her own life when it was ebbing away."

There were loud cheers and the boy modestly slid to the side of the room while other medals for heroism were presented. It was explained that young Flynn had been decorated for saving the life of a playmate at Silver Beach, Pelham Bay, August 1.

Others to receive silver medals were E. O. Weller, Edward Doody and R. H. Karsten. Silver bars were presented to Arthur Gonne, Edward F. Otto, P. McGowan, R. J. Wassin and L. Ellenberger.

Bronze medals went to C. G. Dimig, Edward O'Connell, L. Ellenberger, G. Hutchings, P. Smith, H. Faust, J. Eggers, R. H. Karsten, C. Schweitzer, J. A. Jordan, Edward Kronan, Charles Gels, R. Powers and F. Lillenthal.

AUTOMOBILES KILL 3 BOYS IN STREETS

Two Chauffeurs Allowed to Go
Free, but Third Is Held for Homicide.

George Kaiser, Jr., 5, of 2348 Third avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon at Willis avenue and 133d street, The Bronx, when he was run over by an automobile truck of the Crystal Spring Water Company driven by Charles Barrett. The police allowed Barrett to go with witnesses said he was not 13 blame.

Albert Reeves, 5, of 316 Sixty-eighth street, Brooklyn, died just after being admitted to the Norwegian Hospital because of injuries received when he was run over by an automobile truck in front of his home. According to witnesses the boy ran in front of the truck driven by Raymond Dunwoodie, who applied the brakes and swerved to one side, but was unable to avoid him. No charges were made against Dunwoodie.

David Solberg, 7, of 38 Baldwin avenue, Jersey City, was struck by an automobile truck near his home and died soon afterward. The truck driver was Michael Kaplan of 1409 Thirty-fifth street, Brooklyn, who was arrested on a technical charge of homicide.

BEGGAR CAN CHOOSE, SO HE WILL LEAVE CITY

Malone Finds His Field Is Blighted by Publicity.

Horton Malone, the legless beggar who owns a motor car and keeps a chauffeur and has diamonds and evening clothes and other nice things, did not go to business yesterday as usual, so that a large crowd of his former customers, who well wished him, were unable to give him a cordial reception. Malone spent the entire day in his suits at the Hotel Marlborough where he lives with his wife and mother-in-law.

Meals for the Malones were served in their rooms and they were not at home to callers. Over the telephone Malone said that he expected to leave New York in a day or two as a result of the publicity which follows the attaching of his automobile to satisfy a judgment obtained by Henry Frank, a lawyer, of Rector street. This judgment, incidentally, was satisfied yesterday and Malone's car will be returned to him today. In speaking of his plans, Malone said:

"And nobody is going to get my picture. They are not going to put my picture in the papers and have every cop in New York hauling me along. The bunk about me may make the public suspicious of all pencil peddlers. The papers refer to me as a rich beggar, but if I am I am a mighty poor rich beggar."

MILLER SPEAKS TO-DAY AT NEW GRAIN ELEVATOR

Lieut.-Gov. Wood to Preside;
Julius Barnes Will Talk.

Gov. Miller will be the principal speaker at the formal opening of the New York State grain elevator at the Gowanus Bay terminal of the Barge Canal at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Lieut.-Gov. Wood will preside and Julius Barnes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and former Federal Grain Administrator, will also speak. The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, the New York Board of Trade and Transportation, the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, the Produce Exchange and similar bodies will take part in the exercises.

The grain elevator will hold about 2,000,000 bushels of grain and cost about $2,000,000.

ESTATE OF MRS. KIP TOTALLED $2,454,289

Philip Rhineland, as Executor, Files Accounting.

Mrs. Cornelia B. Kip, formerly of 448 Fifth avenue, who died more than ten years ago, left an estate of $2,454,289, according to an accounting filed yesterday by Philip Rhineland, as executor, with an application for a judicial settlement. The bulk of the family realty holdings have been kept intact, the accounting shows.

William V. B. Kip of 31 East Forty-ninth street has received $605,000 income from 1912 to Jan. April from his mother's estate, and $253,000 has been distributed among the children of Mrs. Adelaide Kip Rhineland, a daughter of Mrs. Kip, following the death of her husband, East Sixty-sixth street, $25,000, and Philip Kip Rhineland of Tuxedo, $27,000. Mrs. Shaeckno also received jewelry worth $15,000 that belonged to her grandmother.

FOUR HELD ON CHARGE OF KIDNAPING GIRL

Josephine Constanzo Made
Prisoner on Farm, She Says.

Charged with kidnaping Josephine Constanzo, 16, of 273 Grove street, Jersey City, four persons were arraigned before Acting Judge Daniel T. O'Regan yesterday and held in $2,500 bail each. They are Albert Behrend and his wife, Carrie, of East Stroudsburg, Pa., and Robert Marasca and his wife, Marie, of 121 Post avenue, Lindhurst.

Josephine said that last December she met Mrs. Behrend, who invited her to take a ride. They boarded a train together for Stroudsburg, where Behrend took them to a farm to work long hours. She secretly got in touch with relatives and they rescued her.

BENJAMIN'S HOUSES GO TO HIS EXECUTOR

Children and Adopted Daughter Maintain Stands on Eve of Will Fight.

The United States Mortgage and Trust Company obtained from Surrogate Foster yesterday an order granting it temporary possession of the late Park Benjamin's house, 379 West Seventy-third street, and the house at 974 East Eighteenth street, Brooklyn, which Mr. Benjamin bequeathed to Gertrude T. Porter for her long and faithful services in his employ.

The petition from the trust company, which was designated as executor and trustee of the will, has it that these properties are in possession at present of caretakers and that it would be to the best interest of the estate and all concerned to have the administrators take possession and lease the houses.

Neither Park Benjamin, Jr., who does the talking for the five children of the late patent lawyer, nor Arthur L. Fullman, lawyer for Anna Bohel Benjamin, adopted daughter, made further statements. Mr. Benjamin said he and his sisters and brother awaited the arrival of Mrs. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso because she was starting to fight the will, which cuts them all off with a dollar each. Mr. Fullman said he had nothing to add to his client's announcement that she would fight to maintain the provisions of the will.

WANT HUDSON TERMINAL P. O. BRANCH RESTORED

Business Men Make Appeal to Postal Authorities.

Representatives of a number of downtown business firms met yesterday in the Hudson Terminal Building to protest against the recent removal of the Hudson Terminal branch of the post office and to take steps to have the branch reestablished in the building. A committee will point out to the postal authorities that the removal seriously discommodated many hundreds of firms. The movement to restore the branch is supported by the New York Chamber of Commerce. Officers of the temporary organization are Cornelius S. A. D. Leaker, president, and W. J. McDonald, secretary, and D. S. Pratt, treasurer.

MACK EXPECTS TO QUIT SHIP BOARD OCTOBER 1

Regards This Decision as Almost Final.

A. F. Mack, district manager of the Shipping Board at New York, probably will leave Government employ October 1, it was learned yesterday. Confirming the report, Mr. Mack said it was barely possible he would stay a short time longer, but that he was desirous of taking a "long rest" as soon as practicable.

The last word from Washington had been that Mr. Mack had decided to remain "indefinitely" with the board after today, when the year he originally agreed to serve would be up. Chairman A. D. Leaker regards Mr. Mack as one of the most valuable officials of the board, and to have been earned in his solicitations to have the district manager remain at his post. Mr. Mack receives $25,000 a year.

Lieut.-Gov. Wood will be wished to recover from a year of arduous duties, and that he would decide to leave his activities. Before going with the board he was president of the Cosmopolitan Shipping Company and he may return to that organization.

JURORS TO PICK PRETTY GIRL FIGURE ON PLAN

Will Go to Atlantic City Open Minded, They Say.

The jury that will select the most beautiful girl entered in the beauty contest at Atlantic City next week will meet last night in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel to consider the methods by which they will make their selection. It was finally decided that the members of the jury would go to Atlantic City without prejudice and decide without fear or favor, making no distinction except as to character, personality, refinement and a few other things. Clothes will not count, only the grace with which they are worn.

It was said at the meeting that fifty-eight cities have selected girls to represent them at the contest. The jury is composed of Howard Chandler Christy, Norman Rockwell, August William Hutan, Willy Postany, Arnold Genthe, Hayworth Campbell, Cole Phillips and Joseph Cummings Chase.

LIVING COSTS GO UP FROM MARCH TO JULY

Food Is Still 42 Per Cent Higher Than Before War.

The rise in the cost of living from March to July of the present year was 6 per cent., according to a survey issued yesterday by the National Industrial Conference Board of 19 East Thirty-ninth street, covering reports from all sections of the country. This increase was brought about through the rise in the price of food and sundries, and unchanged figures were recorded for rents, clothing and fuel.

The cost of food in July was 2 per cent. higher than in March, according to the survey, and still 42 per cent. higher than before the war. The increase since March, however, is but merely a seasonal one, since in former years a rise in food prices followed by a fall during the summer months. But one of fifty-one cities reported a decrease in the price of food from July, 1921, to July 1922.

BODDY'S CHAIR FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Shows No Remorse for Killing
Two Detectives; Reads
Novel Until Last.

SMITH PAYS PENALTY TOO

Slayer of Nineveh Postmaster
in Cell on Final Day.

Luther Boddy, the negro thug who murdered Detectives William Miller and Francis J. Buckley in Harlem last January, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing last night. Herbert W. Smith, who killed Postmaster Lewis Johnson at Nineveh Junction, and who has achieved some notoriety during his confinement in the death house because he drew a few pictures, was also executed. The two men were dead a few minutes after the electrician threw the switch that sent the current into the chair.

Neither Boddy nor Smith showed any remorse for his crime or fear at the fate that awaited him. During the afternoon Boddy occupied himself reading one of Robert W. Chambers' novels, while Smith drew pictures and presented them to the keepers. He was closely watched, however, so that he might not kill himself with the pencil. When led down the corridor and through the little green door into the death chamber, where a row of witnesses sat on board benches beyond the chair, both men said "Good-by, boys," to the other men in the death house, many of whom will soon follow them.

Several witnesses commented on the rather curious fact that almost every man who has been killed at Sing Sing in ten years has said "Good-by, boys," when the keepers came to lead them to the chair. It has grown to be almost an established custom for the condemned men to say that, just as it has become a custom for them to say whatever they want for their last meal on earth.

For his last dinner Boddy had shrimp, pickles, cake and tea, but he did not seem to worry about it. He said that he was rather an indigestible combination. Smith ate pork chops, bread and butter and cake and smoked a cigar. After dinner Boddy returned to his book, reading as rapidly as possible, so that he might find out how it ended before he was killed. He did not learn, but a guard who had read the book told him that it came out all right.

Boddy's mother, Mrs. Ella Boddy of Montclair, N. J., visited him in the death house a few hours before he died. Smith, who formerly lived at Hancock, N. Y., sent word to his mother and sister that he preferred to have them remain away from the prison. He wrote them that their coming would only bring useless and unnecessary suffering to everybody concerned. Smith never had a visitor during the two years he has spent in the death house.

The execution of Boddy and Smith rounded out just 200 persons who have been put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing since it was first used on July 7, 1891. On account of the publicity given to Boddy's crime scores of persons had asked for permission to witness the execution, but the number of witnesses was limited to twelve, exclusive of newspaper men and prison attendants.

It is the law that a certain number of witnesses must see the condemned man strapped into the chair, the electrician throw the switch and the prisoner die.

MME. WALSKA RELEASES FURNITURE TO COHRAN

Abandons Her Motion to Reopen Action for Recovery.

The motion of Mme. Ganna Walska, recent bride of Harold P. McCormick, to reopen an action for the recovery of household furnishings which her former husband, Alexander Smith Cochrane, put in storage by replevin last September, was withdrawn yesterday before Justice Marsh in Supreme Court.

The property was seized by Deputy Sheriff Rooney in Mme. Walska's home at Park avenue and Ninety-fourth street while Mme. Walska was abroad. Later judgment for $25,000 was taken by default. In January she applied to vacate the judgment.

The reason for the withdrawal was not disclosed. It was said, however, that Mr. Cochrane received much of the property which he had seized. The furnishings included an oblong cabinet, at $200, a chest of drawers, $100; four vase lamps, several water color paintings, two Chinese Chippendale chairs, and an antique bed.

CLOTHESLINE POLE FALLS ON BOY AND KILLS HIM

Crashes Through Fence and Hits Lad on Sidewalk.

Harold McKee, 4 years old, of 88 Montrose street, Brooklyn, was crushed to death yesterday when a clothes pole that was being removed from the rear yard of 197 Engert avenue fell on him. The ropes snapped as the pole was being lowered and it toppled down, smashing a fence that separated the yard from the street. The boy, who was on the sidewalk, happened to be right in the path of the pole.

ITALIAN LINER BRINGS 1,414.

Dr. Badin, Who Gave Hughes Portrait to Rome, Returns.

The steamship Guglielmo Perce of the Perce Line arrived here from Genoa and Naples, bringing 1,414 passengers, including twenty-eight American citizens who have been abroad on business or recreation. The ship rushed to this port to get those on board here in time to be included in the August quota, which closed last night.

Dr. Pasquale della Badin, of 2244 Hughes avenue, The Bronx, returned with Mrs. della Badin after a trip to Rome, where he presented a full length portrait of Secretary of State Hughes to Senator Schanzer on behalf of 120,000 Italians in the United States. The presentation took place at the American Embassy in Rome. Dr. della Badin said that the statue which Italy has fairly idolized by the Italians.

Commandatore Col. Federico Cicciocioppa, Minister Plenipotentiary of Italy and ambassador to the King, arrived and will stop in New York for his first visit while the ship is in port. He brought his twelve-year-old nephew, Giuseppe di Martino, Col. Cicciocioppa's fourth son, and his wife, who was with Abyssinia and also in the recent war and has been decorated several times by his Government. He also was Minister of the Interior several years.

Others who arrived included Miss Lena Belserio, 22, who returned after a two-year stay in Italy. Her father is an art and antique dealer here.

FROCKS: SUITS: COATS

All new for Miss 14 to 20

SMART USE OF TWO FAB-RICS IN TWO-PIECE
FROCKS—at $32.50

The ever becoming over-bouse of crepe de chine has fine twill collar, cuffs and deep band to match its twill skirt. In attractive colors—brown with beige blouse—navy blue with a new red, beige or gray.

SOFTLY TAILORED SUITS,
THE NEW NOTE IN TAIL-
LEURS, at $39.50

The very smartest suits sent to us from Paris are tailored, of course, but with a softness and grace of line not usually associated with the usual tailors. These at $39.50 have that air, they are so straight and simple, the collars roll so carelessly and the jackets fit so well, with no suggestion "of tightness" across the shoulders.

ENGLISH TWEEDS AND HOMESPUNS IN TOP-
COATS OF UNUSUAL DIS-TINCTION AT $39.50 TO $79.50

Plain, soft checks, or plaids in the lovely subdued colorings. Tans, blues, greys, mixtures in plain weaves, checks, plaids and mixtures. New treatment of detail gives fresh smartness, but the essential things are the conservative cut and perfect tailoring.

Note: Raccoon or Australian opossum collars on the coats at $59.50 to $79.50.
